VicForests is an Equal Opportunity Employer

VicForests is a leading native forest timber harvesting and sales business. We play a key role in maintaining ecological sustainability and economic prosperity of the Victorian timber industry.

VicForests commenced operations as a Victorian Government owned enterprise in August 2004. We are responsible for the sustainable harvest and sale of timber resources from Victoria's public native forests.

Our business is conducted in accordance with our Sustainable Forest Management System which promotes the adoption of the highest forest management standards through a process of continuous improvement. VicForests is certified to the Australian Forestry Standard and is committed to building a strong commercial and performance-based culture through innovative commercial practices, staff development and outstanding forest management.

VicForests' core activities include customer sales and service, strategy and planning, forest operations and woodflow management. With a major role in the timber industry and regional Victoria, we employ over 140 people, and engage over 500 people indirectly as harvest and haul contractors.

There are many exciting career opportunities available with VicForests – our Foresters specialise in several key areas of long-term, tactical and operational planning, roading, harvesting and contract management, silviculture and native forest regeneration. Other career paths include customer management, resource and business analysts, safety and risk, operational audit, forest scientists and product delivery. A significant proportion of our staff and contractors are also involved with fire-fighting efforts each year.

VicForests is focused on investing in our employees through training, development, and providing career opportunities.

We look for dynamic people who have a strong desire to be part of an organisation that strives to achieve success through implementing excellent and innovative business and timber industry practices for our customers and stakeholders.

Contributing to the timber industry is something that VicForests and our staff are proud of.
